

Make a success of your kitchen renovation

WHILE the property boom may have ended some time ago, the renovation boom still powers along, particularly with new kitchens.

The boom has stretched the resources of quality suppliers, consequently attracting a swarm of so-called specialists offering substandard service and products. Countless irate consumers have been left with blown-out budgets, shoddy workmanship and late delivery on their purchases.

"I've met people who were without their kitchen for six months as the old one was removed too early, while key components of the new kitchen were delayed" Michael Kitchener of Kitcheners Kitchens said.

Living without a kitchen for even a matter of days is a nightmare, and it's this, and many other similar stories that's compelled Mr Kitchener to publish Essential Kitchen Ideas e-book to help when buying a new kitchen.

"We have a proven track record of installing tailor-made kitchens where we work together step-by-step and the customer knows exactly what to expect and when to expect it," Mr Kitchener said.

The book covers many critical areas including:

- Using a space to its full potential to get a kitchen that is right for you, not one that simply imitates those in glossy magazines.
- Considering the widest range of components and finishes.
- Knowing when designers are cutting corners. Quality fixtures, fittings and workmanship should insure against it.
- Understanding timelines so that design to delivery doesn't feel like an eternity.
- Safety tips to ensure that the finished kitchen is not a disaster waiting to happen.
- Installation tips, as shoddy installers and poor measurement can have disastrous consequences.

- Budget and payments so that bills don't end up twice as high.

These are just some of the issues that the book addresses. It offers tips on how to assess a company before you decide to buy.

Don't be another renovation casualty. To protect yourself as well as obtain many great kitchen design ideas, visit kitcheners.com.au and download your free e-book today.

FACT FILE

Kitcheners Kitchens

Unit 22 / 56 O'Riordan Street,
Alexandria NSW 2015

P: 1800 826 144

F: 1300 856 421

W: www.kitcheners.com.au