

A NEW RENOVATED KITCHEN CAN FEEL LIKE A NEW HOME

A new renovated kitchen may well just be the fresh change you're craving.

STORY BY MICHAEL PENNY, PHOTOGRAPHY SUPPLIED BY KITCHENERS® KITCHENS

It's not often an option to move into a new home when you're tired of your current one, however a new kitchen is a different story. We spend so much time in there, it may just be the fresh change you need. It could also be a growing family or kids leaving home that necessitates change. Yet whatever your circumstances or your mood, talk to a custom-design kitchen company like Kitcheners who will examine your needs and lifestyle to create a new kitchen that is made just for you™.

This particular beauty in Collaroy, NSW, was for a couple who had cooked in the same kitchen for 25 years. It was claustrophobic, and featured Tasmanian oak doors, a green Laminex benchtop and only one set of five skinny drawers. So the brief was to create an entertainer's delight, where special features like a wine fridge, along with everything else, was within easy reach. The impressive result is a stylish space where everything is symmetrical and hidden, such as the integrated fridge/freezer, and an appliance centre/workstation behind soft-close polyurethane full-length doors, which combine to ensure the leafy view is uninterrupted.

Kitcheners® Kitchens create an entertainer's kitchen that complements the spectacular treetop-to-water outlook

The old kitchen lasted 25 years. Covered in Tasmanian oak and green Laminex.

The cramped space lacked harmony with the leafy surrounds.

Custom made kitchen renovations that cater to everybody's tastes.
